

30 November 1954

MEMORANDUM FOR THE RECORD OF THE CLARK
COMMITTEE

OCI (Special Intelligence)

Colonel Miller jumped with both feet on the subject of un-vouchered funds expended by Staff D for clandestine procurement of equipment for OCI and NSA. He claimed that the Hoover Commission was most concerned with expenses; since FOA is pouring funds into foreign governments, he felt we should be in a position to ask for materials in return, and that through clandestine procurement we were actually paying twice. Miller made a note to have Colonel Lane look into this aspect of the DD(P) budget, and to determine its extent.

McGruder raised the question (and made a note) as to whether OCI and/or NSA had any plans to incorporate the facilities of FBID under emergency conditions. His questioning has assumed the line of determining whether the Agency has given thought to coordinating its far-flung interests as a coordinated enterprise rather than building small, disjointed empires.

1100-1200 The task force attended a meeting of the OCI Indications Board
1200-1230 Attended an OCI Briefing
1330-1600 Attended a briefing by the NE.A Division, OCI

Colonel Miller asked a leading question during the afternoon, to wit, "OCI's estimates or opinions are purely their own; how do you know if they carry any weight with consumers? Why is your expert opinion any better than anyone else's?"

Colonel Miller was concerned that OCI's estimates were the product of their own development, without external coordination for concurrence with the IAC.

Mr. [ ] excellent three-hour briefing was such as to disallow much questioning on the part of the task force.

FLD/du

cc: [ ]

Inspector General

CRC, 3/11/2003

010161

30 November 1954

MEMORANDUM FOR THE RECORD OF THE CLARK
COMMITTEE

OCI [REDACTED]

Colonel Miller [REDACTED]

[REDACTED] claimed that the Hoover Commission was most concerned with expenses; since FOA is pouring funds into foreign governments, he felt we should be in a position to ask for materials in return, and that through clandestine procurement we were actually paying twice. Miller made a note to have Colonel Lane look into this aspect of the DD(P) budget, and to determine its extent.

McGruder raised the question (and made a note) as to whether OCI and/or NSA had any plans to incorporate the facilities of FBID under emergency conditions. His questioning has assumed the line of determining whether the Agency has given thought to coordinating its far-flung interests as a coordinated enterprise rather than building small, disjointed empires.

1100-1200 The task force attended a meeting of the OCI Indications Board
1200-1230 Attended an OCI Briefing
1330-1600 Attended a briefing by the [REDACTED] Division, OCI

Colonel Miller asked a leading question during the afternoon, to wit, "OCI's estimates or opinions are purely their own; how do you know if they carry any weight with consumers? Why is your expert opinion any better than anyone else's?"

Colonel Miller was concerned that OCI's estimates were the product of their own development, without external coordination for concurrence with the IAC.

[REDACTED] excellent three-hour briefing was such as to disallow much questioning on the part of the task force.

cc: [REDACTED]

Inspector General

Date 5/5/92

HRP 89-2

C10161

This document has been approved for release through the HISTORICAL REVIEW PROGRAM of the Central Intelligence Agency.